

Properties- This class is inheriting from hash table and implementing map interface.

Hash Table – Collection of key value pairs that are stored in hash table by using a hash function.

- Remember in hash table we can have any data type as a key or any type of object as a value but in properties we can store only string, key should also be a string and value should be also a string.